

My Personal Code of Ethics

A client's trust is highly valued, and all client information is kept strictly confidential, respecting the rights and dignity of the individual. I don't sell or share email addresses. Please also read my Privacy Policy.

By ordering a free service or booking a session, you accept full responsibility for implementing the information in your life as you see fit.

Any recommendations or advice I offer for my clients is for their consideration only, and clients should feel in no way compelled to act upon them.

I don't perform future predictions because your future depends on the choices that you make.

I maintain a high level of professional competence, seeking always to improve my standards and skills. I always communicate my findings honestly as they are found in the client's energy or Soul Level information.

I honor those who come to me for help, not judging, condemning, or invalidating them for their mistakes or misunderstanding, but honoring their desire for change.

I use my abilities only in serving the Highest Good of all. I acknowledge my limitations and will act accordingly.
